Director of Education and Community Partnerships	The Director of Education and Community Partnerships will oversee all education and outreach projects at From the Top. S/he will be responsible for creating and managing From the Top's education materials, collaborative education partnerships with outside organizations, and school projects. S/he will also supervise two Education Program Managers who manage grant-funded programs with external partners and an Arts Leadership program, working directly with young musicians, parents, and educators. The position requires some teaching, presentation and public speaking activities, as well as some domestic travel. Much of the Director of Education's energy will be spent building and overseeing nationwide partner projects, serving as an enthusiastic ambassador for the organization, building strategic alliances with new arts oriented education and community based organizations.

From the Top celebrates the passion, dedication and personal stories of the nation's outstanding young classical musicians. Through national broadcasts, live events, and education and community programs, these performers inspire the pursuit of excellence, and encourage participation in the arts as an integral part of a vibrant and civil society. In the past decade, From the Top has grown from a small upstart with a bold idea for a new radio series to a multi-faceted non-profit that produces weekly NPR broadcasts, an Emmy-nominated PBS television series, a national tour of live events, and education and community outreach programs. With a staff of nearly 30 employees and an annual budget of more than $5 million, From the Top is a well-respected national leader. Headquartered in the heart of the musical core of Boston, FTT is described as "youthful, passionate, fun, engaging, theatrical, not stodgy, creative and adrenaline filled." The organization has an entrepreneurial spirit and is on the forefront of developing new education and outreach initiatives utilizing the power of young musicians. Its impact has been phenomenal. Simply put, FTT has the largest audience of any weekly classical music series on radio and reaches a combined annual national TV/Radio audience of 80 million. The ideal candidate must have a demonstrated passion for music and/or the arts and a minimum of 5 years of professional experience in creative project design and management in the education/music/arts field. S/he will have proven leadership capabilities, as well as excellent interpersonal skills. Experience developing curriculum and working with teachers and education organizations is mandatory, knowledge of grant writing and event productions will be a plus. S/he will be a poised and confident individual with strong communication skills (written and verbal) who can interact effectively with a variety of constituents, equally comfortable as an ambassador making a presentation at a board meeting as s/he is addressing young people or community outreach managers, developing new programs. BA in Music/Arts/Education preferred. Currently this person could be the Director of Education/Outreach or Program Manager involved with community arts/orchestras, or a teacher of music at either the secondary or collegiate level. How to Apply: Submit cover letter and resume, in complete confidence to our search firm by email: FromtheTop@erisearch.net no phone calls please.	FT		Executive Resources International	Boston	MA	John Jay	63 Atlantic Avenue	Boston	MA	02110	No phone calls please	FromtheTop@erisearch.net	8/18/09	06/18/2009
